Spanish Rebel Forces Threaten Destruction of That City

CRISIS IS FEARED

One Newspaper Reports That Insurgents Have Already Surrounded City

By International News Service
Spanish rebel forces threatened destruction of Barcelona today, as startled Europe launched action to prevent the crisis of spreading into a general conflagration.

One London newspaper reported insurgents have already surrounded the city and have blockaded the port despite a British plan to delay action until they have been evacuated.

In Madrid rebels beat back loyalist counter attacks, and held in their possession the northwest section of the capital.

BARCELONA, Nov. 20.—Great Britain prepared to acquiesce to a rebel bombardment of Barcelona without interference if a neutral zone is provided for British shipping, it was stated here today.

Preparations are being made to clear the port and provide a neutrality anchorage.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—(INS)—Destruction of Barcelona, Catalanian commercial metropolis of a million population, without further warning, was threatened today by the Spanish Nationalist Government in a communication to the British Foreign Office from the "capital" at Burgos.

Increasing international fears already stirred by the rebels' announced intention of imposing a blockade on Barcelona, foreign secretary Anthony Eden read the Burgos threat to a startled House of Commons.

Charging that the majority of arm shipments to Barcelona were Russian, the note said:

"The National Government, being resolved to prevent this traffic by every means at its disposal, would even go so far, if necessary, as to destroy that port."

"Therefore, the Government warns all foreign ships anchored in Barcelona of the desirability of abandoning it in a very short time in order to avoid possible damage on the occasion of military action, of which no further warning will be given."

Eden said Britain has requested the Burgos government to delay the bombardment of Barcelona until British nationals have been evacuated.

But, according to the Daily Telegraph today, the Barcelona blockade has already been put into effect and warships of Gen. Francisco Franco have begun shelling that city.

APPRECIATION SERVICE ARRANGED FOR SUNDAY

Eddington Presbyterian Group To Honor the Old Mother Church

TO UNVEIL A TABLET

EDDINGTON, Nov. 20.—On Sunday, between the hours of three and four p. m., the Eddington Presbyterian Church will hold an appreciation service in the old mother church, the Bensalem Presbyterian Church, on Oakford road, north of Hulmeville road, near the old Hermitage school.

A tablet will be unveiled at the services in appreciation to the Bensalem congregation. Dr. H. W. Hathaway, executive secretary of the Presbytery, will speak.

On the tablet, which will be unveiled by the Rev. Arthur D. Sargis, minister of the Eddington Presbyterian Church, is the inscription: "Erected by the Eddington Presbyterian Church on her 50th anniversary in appreciation of the mother church, 'Old Bensalem,' who gave of her membership that the new church might be established."

The Bensalem Church, the oldest Presbyterian church in Bucks county, and one of the oldest in the country, was organized about 1705 by Dutch Reform and Huguenot settlers. The first church building was built about 1710, and the first regular minister was Paulus Van Vleck.

In the 1820's the original building was torn down and the present walls built. In 1907 a fire destroyed much of the woodwork and the building now standing was rebuilt on the walls of the 1820 period.

Members of the Eddington church will leave here in a body Sunday afternoon shortly before three p. m. Special programs have been prepared for the service, each bearing a picture of the Bensalem church as it appears today.

It was because residents along the Delaware felt the need for a church in this section that plans were begun for a church here about 1861. A chapel, known as the Aurora Chapel, was built where the Eddington Distillery was later located.

In 1886 the Sunday School of the new group met in the Eddington School House and in 1872 the Bridgewater Presbyterian Chapel was built. Following several meetings of this group came the decision to organize a church for the lower end of Bensalem Township.

In 1885 a meeting was held to plan for the securing of a charter and later in the same year a board of trustees was elected. The new church at Eddington was incorporated in 1886.

The service Sunday is to be one of appreciation for the fact that it was 18 members of the congregation of Philadelphia, Nov. 20.—The State Superior Court today had decreed it is no more cruel to keep a chicken in a jug than it is to keep a horse in a stall.

The ruling set aside a petition made by the S. P. C. A., in Lancaster, several months ago, against M. W. Ansbach, who advertised a brand of poultry feed by raising a two weeks' old chicken on it, and displaying the chicken in a five gallon jug in a store window. Ansbach said that the chicken, after living three weeks in the jar, was healthier and heavier than its mate from the same brood, raised in a regular incubator.

AMATEURS TO GIVE SHOW AT HIGH SCHOOL TONIGHT

Proceeds of Fathers' Ass'n Affair to Pay for Bleachers On Field

TO AWARD PRIZES

This evening at eight o'clock in the high school auditorium the Fathers' Association will conduct an amateur night. This meeting is open to the public for a small admission fee. The money earned will be used to pay for the erection of the stand on the high school athletic field.

This stand is being erected on the north side of the field. Men have been working on this project for the past two weeks.

Mr. Doan is responsible for the fine progress already made. He, with the help of one laborer, a local unemployed man, dug the holes for the concrete, made the forms, fitted them, and supervised the pouring of the concrete.

In the early part of this week, a local unemployed carpenter and a laborer were put on the job to help handle the timber.

One half of the stand is near completion. It is reported that this part of the stand should be finished in time to accommodate the spectators for the Bristol-Quakertown game tomorrow.

All the labor and materials for this construction were purchased through local merchants.

An addition of the entertainers-to-be tonight was held at the Bracken Post home on Wednesday evening. Because of the large turn-out of applicants, the judges were able to pick out fine local talent. There were over 30 amateurs who appeared for the final "going over." From the laughs and grimaces of the judges, the show promises to be a "hit."

There will be quite a little diversity in the program. The acts include vocal, piano, dance solos; dance teams, skits, recitations and all the other things that go with amateur nights.

Prizes will be awarded according to age groups. The first group, ages eight to 11, will include: Tap dance and song, Dorothy Wilson; harmonica trio, Ann Pearson, Shirley Post, Arline Spencer; tap dance, Margaret Wren; tap dance, Louis Mari; vocal solo, Lucille Kline; military tap dance, Geraldine Kempton; tap dance, Bernice White, Gloria Greco; violin solo, Marry Harris.

FOOD TO COST MORE

The department of agriculture forecasts America's smallest supply of meats in fifteen years in 1937. This scarcity, of course, will mean increased meat prices. That the prospective cost of living rise will not be confined to meats is indicated in another department of agriculture report, predicting "some rise" in dairy prices in 1937.

The government experts attribute the prospective meat shortage to the drought which reduced feed supplies for meat animals and forced much breeding stock to market. The report cites the AAA as a factor, only in noting that southern states produced 2,900,000 more hogs last year than in 1930, while western states produced 20,000,000 fewer. The southern increase was attributed to the AAA program which shifted much acreage from cotton and tobacco to feed crops. It might be added that AAA had much to do with the decrease of 20,000,000 in western hog production and in the resultant rise in prices to consumers.

Department of agriculture economists struck a cheerful note in their report, however, when they predicted that improvement in the purchasing power of consumers would be an important influence in lifting the general level of meat and dairy prices. That may console the housewife.

THE HORN-BLOWING MENACE

Here is a warning to the horn blasters: Dr. Foster Kennedy, professor of neurology at Cornell University Medical College, says noise is a major hazard of modern existence. "Noise," he says, "causes excitement and irritation which have consequences of many kinds in conduct."

Everybody knows about the "irritation" of having an automobile horn helping him, as a pedestrian, to speed up at a crossing. But the physician says that "long before" emotions are disturbed, certain changes such as quickening of the pulse rate, heightening of blood pressure and irregularities of heart rhythm, are induced.

Millions of Americans appear to be in peril of horn-tooled arteriosclerosis.

MILLIONS UNDER ARMS

The theory is expounded from time to time by our more bellicose fellow citizens that the way to insure peace is to arm for it.

A report just received from Geneva says 8,200,000 men now are under arms throughout the world, compared with 6,500,000 under arms in 1931-32.

If the theory above-mentioned is correct, the world's chances for peace are better now than they were four years ago. We doubt it, and so do the British insurance men who underwrite policies on such matters.

The hotel trade is supplying scratch pads in its dining rooms to save the linen. Still, there's nothing better than a 6 by 6 tablecloth for computing the national debt with no zeroes omitted.

Say what you will, the austere British code has its points. Mr. Simpson is not in vaudeville.

A Hollywood featured player—a mere girl—insists her feet are larger than Garbo's. Why this incessant belittling of a great star?

Europe Startled As Barcelona is Threatened

positions in the University city quarter of northwestern Madrid.

Simultaneously the rebels resumed, for the first time in several days, their attack on the Segovia, Toledo, and other bridgeheads in the southern and western section of town.

Columns of Cole, Tela and Monterio hammered at the bridge while ceaselessly rebel artillery pounded the city and aircraft again flew overhead, trying to bomb the city into submission, and starting several fresh fires.

A loyalist column, meanwhile, swung out of the city to the east, turned southward and attacked the rebel right flank in the Villaverde sector.

Col. Tela and the Moorish commander El-Zhiz were both wounded in today's action.

The Rio del Plata bank near the Puerta del Sol was set afire, and in-surgenents claimed the ministry of the interior was also hit.

One thousand persons taking refuge in cellars in Anton Martin street were reported by the Reuters correspondent here to have been buried alive in yesterday's air raid at 4 p. m.

Terror is growing in Madrid and the military committee is renewing its efforts to evacuate women and children.

The government, however, accepts Italian and German recognition of the rebel regime of Gen. Francisco Franco philosophically, asserting that recognition is only "public avowal" of conditions that have existed almost since the war started. The question now is whether the two Fascist nations will "increase" their aid to the insurgents.

Loyalist airplanes, the Madrid junta announced, today raided the rebel air field on the island of Majorca, destroying gasoline storage tanks.

Several thousand rebel troops comprise the three columns fighting southward in university city, with their next objectives the model prison and the north railway station.

They are hampered in their drive, however, by the fact that hand-to-hand fighting in the streets has now brought them to a large open space, guarded by loyalist machine guns, between the university and Paseo de Rosales.

Air bombardments are helping to clear the way.

To Place Women On Equal Footing

Harrisburg, Nov. 20—Striking an individual note seldom before heard in Pennsylvania politics, Mrs. Humberg Barton Powell, newly-elected president of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women, today declared that women voters will become an "absolute parity" with the men in party affairs.

Mrs. Powell set forth a four-point program and opened a way to "revitalization" of the GOP. She told International News Service she thought the only solution to the dilemma which faces the Republican party was to put the women element of the party on an equal footing with the men.

"Understanding" on Foreign Policies

Berlin, Nov. 20—"An understanding on foreign policies between Japan and Germany is in process of negotiation," a high official today authorized I. N. S. to announce.

"Nothing as yet has been signed," the authority emphasized, and it was insisted that no clause of a military kind will be included in the agreement. This was the first official confirmation here or in Tokyo.

GIVEN LIGHT SIGNAL DRILL IN PREPARATION FOR GAME

By Louis Tomlinson

Coach Bill Dougherty has given his varsity eleven a light signal drill in practice this week, but has stressed breaking up of an aerial attack. This work was confined to the second, third and fourth teams, who worked on pass defense all afternoon. The reason for this is because Quakertown uses the Warner system, and it is well-known that the Warner system is a mysterious system and depends a lot on their passes if they are to come out on top.

The Bunnies went through their paces in preparation for the season's semi-final engagement with the "Little Quakers," spending nearly all of their time on light defense and tackling.

The Burlington game did things to the Cardinals. It showed and proved and jolted the team into the realization that you have to have eleven men every minute. Bristol got by Burlington safely enough, though it took everything it had to swing the pendulum toward Bristol and come out on top by a two-touchdown margin. The Bunnies cannot forget the first half of that game for it nearly spelt defeat for them.

It must be said of the local reserves that they showed some improvement, but poor tackling, both Saturday and Tuesday kept the Cardinals in the hole all the time.

Coach "Gloomy Bill" Dougherty, in an effort to strengthen the line, has shifted Harry "Hinkey" Hinman at the guard post in the absence of Leon Challela, whose loss was greatly felt in the Burlington fray. And to help fortify the local squad for the game it is rumored now at school that Jesse Vanizant may return for this contest.

In looking over the scoring records of all the scholastic teams of Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey, we found Bristol ranks second only to Bordentown Military Institute of New Jersey. They trail this institution by only 11 points and in order to keep pace with them they must be at their best, as the "Little Quakers" have only been scored upon twice. Both touchdowns were recorded by Lelandale who are the only school to score on Coach Stoneback's eleven.

This contest seems to be the outstanding competition of the season for the Bunnies.
